OLD BUSINESS

A discussion on the differences between what is a nuisance and versus a noise ordinance. The nuisance ordinance is an umbrella which engulfs a lot of annoying things that a neighbor might have anything could fall under a nuisance including neighbor disputes. The zoning ordinance covers commercial or industrial repetitive noises daily.

After reviewing the Noise Ordinance drafted by the township solicitor the planning commission feels that between the noise section in the zoning ordinance and nuisance ordinance everything is pretty much covered already.
